

Some of the best teams in the Roger Hughes' era have been led by big-time receivers. From Chisom Opara to Brendan Circle, winning seasons and All-Ivy receivers have often gone hand-in-hand.

There is an open spot for a No. 1 receiver on the 2008 team, and this physical target from Texas could become that player. He's caught at least one touchdown every year of his career.

He's looking for many more this season.
